THE AGED MOTHER OF DEFENDANT ON STAND

Mrs. Aurville Davis Tells Story of Daughter's Life--Mrs. Burns Much Improved in Health

When the sixth day of the trial of Mrs. Mary A. Burns of Nottingham, charged with the killing of her husband Frank A. Burns, by poison was resumed, the defendant appeared in court looking none the worse for the total collapse that she sustained during the trial yesterday. According to those connected with the Nottingham county jail, she passed a very comfortable night.

The principal witness of the morning was Mrs. Aurville Davis, the aged mother of the defendant, who has shown her loyalty and devotion to her daughter by sitting each day by her side, whispering words of comfort and cheer to the accused.

At the opening of the court this morning the cross examination of Mrs.
Fred Gove, sister of Mrs. Burns, was resumed by ex-County Solicitor Ernest L. Gupitt. She testified to visiting Mrs. Burns at the jail during the first week of her imprisonment. I never told her what was in the papers. I asked her about the poison and she said she bought it in Manchester for herself. I did not know that Mr. Gupitt had been in jail before that and identified her as the woman who purchased the poison.

Mrs. Gove identified a dress suit case as being the property of her sister Mary.

On redirect by Col. Bartlett: I never heard May say anything against Mr.
Burns before or after his death.

Mary wrote the order for her money in the Concord bank after she had been arrested by Sheriff Spinney. I spoke about the undertaker's bill and she said, get me a piece of paper and she sat down on the side of the bed and wrote the order. I directed the envelope the following day and mailed it. She did not seem to realize the significance of her arrest and said, what are they taking me for. She would be calm for days and then she would have very nervous spells. Her mind is a great deal worse during these periods. She does not seem to remember anything at these times.

You would not know Mrs. Burns, she seems like a changed woman since she first came to my house. Harry Davis keeps up the old home place, he is on friendly terms with all of us, excepting Myra.

I did not know that Mary was not
Mr. Burns' lawful wife until after his death.

Mrs. Aurville Davis, mother of Mrs.
Burns told of her early life. Her husband's suicide as well as her daughter's suicide.

Mrs. Burns does not act the same as she did several years ago.

Mary told me at the jail that Mr.
Burns took the poison by mistake, that it was intended for herself.

Cross examination by Mr. Gupitt:

I first saw Mary at the jail about two or three weeks after she was arrested.
When I first came into the jail she said "Oh, mother!" She cried some during our talk.

I saw her at Emma's funeral and not again until last year when I saw her at her sister Myra's.

She said things during our conversation at the jail that made me think she was not in her right mind.

I visited her once in Concord, while she was married to Allen.

I separated from my husband owing to his drinking habits. He was a bright and well educated man. He had the tremous once. He was recognized in the community as a bright and shrewd man, with the exception of the drink.
When Mary was born I had the measles and afterwards Mary had sores on her head. My mother was about 70 years old when she went to the Os-agee county farm. I have a half sister, Mrs. James Currier at Lee.

Myra told me to keep away from Mary. She never told me why.

Mrs. Margaretta Davis, wife of Harry Davis testified to living on the old Davis place in Nottingham. All the members of the family visit us with one exception. For two and one-half years Myra had not visited us prior to Mr. Burns' death.

On the Sunday previous to Mr. Burns' death, Mr. Burns and Mary passed the greater portion of the day at her house.
Their relations were of the most cordial nature. While at our home, she sat in his lap and put her arms around Burns' neck.

I told her I was going home to Dea-ham and she said, Margaret you will never see me alive again. I care more for him than I do my life.

I afterwards showed her the medicine chest and there was a bottle of carbolic acid. She grabbed it and I had some difficulty in getting it away from her.

She was in considerable pain and I mixed some whisky for her. She had pains in the back of her head and neck. She could not seem to remain quiet. She would remain seated only for a few minutes at a time. Her conduct was very irrational.

I was washing dishes and she was helping me when she spoke of killing herself.

Myra said: "I honestly think that girl is crazy." This was sometime after Burns' death.

Cross examination:

She never tried to pull the cork and drink the carbolic acid the day at my house. I seized her by the arm before getting the bottle away from her. I told my husband of Mary's threat to take her life, also to Fred and Rose.

Court at this point took a recess until 1.15 o'clock.

Friday's Session

For the second time in one day the collapse of Mrs. Mary A. Burns in the court room where she is being tried on a charge of having murdered her husband by leaving cyanide of potassium where he would get it mixed in a drink caused the court to take a recess. During the cross examination of her sister, Mrs. Rose Gove, wife of the witness who was on the stand when Mrs.
Burns collapsed at the close of the morning session, Mrs. Burns' head

LITTLE HOPE HELD FOR THE SERBIANS

Vital Conquest of the Little Nation Apparently Not Far Distant--Northern and Southern Forces Retreat Under Difficulties

London, Nov. 19.—Athens despatches estimate that more than 80,000 Bulgarians are facing 50,000 Serbians in the Monastir region in south Serbia. The Serbian forces which have evacuated Prilep, following their enforced abandonment of Babuna Pass are expected to retire to the heights between Prilep and Monastir and eventually retreat towards Albania, the advice state. While the fate of Monastir is not yet known definitely, there is little hope in England that it will escape the Bulgarians. There is a possibility, however, that the invaders will not dare to make such an extension of their line, with the French apparently established solidly on their flank. Left in the dark as to the actual progress of the Anglo-French campaign in the Near East, the British public only hopes that the Entente Allies by some miracle can get such strong forces there that they will enable the harassed Serbians to make a successful stand and preserve a small portion of their country, as the Belgians did along the Yser. The slender basis of this hope is the unofficial news that the Anglo-French force is now assuming formidable proportions, as well as by hints that Italy is on the verge of actual participation in the Balkan campaign. The retreat of the Serbians towards the Albanian border is causing increased uneasiness at Athens, but the developments there are interpreted as being not unfavorable to the Entente Powers. In the face of the concentration of both Austrian and Russian forces on the Rumanian frontier, Roumania is expected speedily to reach a decision regarding her future attitude towards the two groups of belligerents, according to a trustworthy despatch to Rome. Likewise Greece is being talked to in a fashion likely to force an early decision.

Capture 5000 Serbs
The capture of 5000 Serbians was announced by the German war office today.

"During yesterday's successful battles in pursuit of the enemy about 5000 Serbians were taken prisoner."

Advance in West Serbia
The Austrian official report for Nov. 18 relating to operations in the Balkan theatre received direct from Vienna, follows:

"The pursuit of the enemy is progressing favorably in spite of heavy hardships caused by the weather. North of Novo Vares our troops are approaching the Uvac section. The village of Jovar has been occupied. South of Ivanjica we have approached near to the passes of Goliya Planina in the region of the height of Jankow."

"German troops advanced until halfway between Usko (Uskub?) and Raska. Austro-Hungarian forces advancing from the east, against their crossed Kaponik Planina on the road to Karadag."

"Troops of the Army of General von Gallwitz advanced south past Kurzanli, plundered by the Serbians. Bulgarian forces occupied the heights of Rudan and the region to the south-east."

WHEN ELEVENS OF HARVARD AND YALE CLASH GRIDIRON ENTHUSIASTS MAY EXPECT GREAT BATTLE.

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 20.—The eleven of Harvard and Yale are now ready for their big clash at Cambridge. Since Yale took the Princeton team to camp at the big bowl last Saturday the stock of the blue eleven has gone up over 50 per cent, and there are many who believe the New Haven students will wind up their season with a victory over the Cambridge men. Two weeks ago the New Haven boys were not given a look in by either Princeton or Harvard, but since they took the scalp of the Tiger mascot warriors, there are many who are willing to bet that Harvard will have to have its best team ready and fit for the fray at the stadium. Yale has had a number of drills during the past few days and judging by the manner in which the men practice, they are confident of making things mighty warm for the wearers of the Crimson. Harvard is in condition and Coach Houghton and Captain Mahan are confident their team will take Yale into camp and of winning by a big score. The probable lineup of the two elevens for this afternoon

WITH THE SPORTS

New York, Nov. 20.—Joe Devins, manager of the American Sporting Club, will inaugurate in New York, the "no satisfaction no pay" policy in his club, a plan which threatens to revolutionize the boxing game in Gotham. Beginning next Tuesday night November 23rd no boxer who appears in one of the main bouts at the club will be paid until the day following his bout and will receive his money then only if his work has been entirely satisfactory to all the patrons of the club.

Every ticket sold will have a refund coupon, which will entitle the bearer to his money back in the event of the contest being unsatisfactory.

The first match under these conditions will be held next Tuesday night between the two negro heavyweights, Sam Langford and Sam McVey. Devins has arranged with Joe Woodman and George Lawrence respective managers of the two black giants, to sign a set of articles calling for a refund as above.

"We're going to try something new," said Devins. "We want every man who buys a ticket to feel that he is part of the judge and jury to decide whether or not the boxers are going their best. There have been insinuations made that Langford and McVey do not always try when they go against each other. Well, this time they'll try or they won't get a cent; and when this pair tries, a great fight is sure to result."

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 20.—All attendance records for a football game in Pennsylvania probably will be broken Thanksgiving Day when the Pennsylvania State College eleven clashes with unbeaten University of Pittsburgh team in the final game of the year in the Steel City.

Pitt enters the game without a single defeat chalked against her varsity while State's record shows only one defeat—a 13 to 0 beating by Harvard.

The Thanksgiving Day game with State has been a football classic in Western Pennsylvania for a number of years. A victory over Penn State would give Pittsburgh an even break with Cornell for the eastern college championship.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 20.—Atlanta now appears more than likely to get the biennial convention of Notarian Clubs for 1917. Since the recent state meeting a decided impetus has been given to the proposition. The five Georgia Clubs—of Atlanta, Augusta, Savannah, Macon and Rome—all are solidly behind the project.

The only Southern city at which the big Rotarian convention ever has met has recently honored Atlanta as a fine place for a national meeting.

FIVE ECLIPSES IN 1916

There will be five eclipses in 1916, three of them visible or partly visible in Maine. They are: a partial eclipse of the moon Jan. 20, visible; a total eclipse of the sun Feb. 3, visible as a partial eclipse; a partial eclipse of the moon July 1, visible; an annular eclipse of the sun July 29, visible; a partial eclipse of the sun Dec. 24, visible.

WRESTLING

Boston, Nov. 20.—When Charles Cutler, of Chicago, and Alex Aberg, of Finland, meet to wrestle for the world's heavyweight Greco-Roman championship in Mechanics Building, Boston, under the direction of George Tuohy, on Thanksgiving night, the $3,000 purse involved will not be all that will be at issue.

There is a personal matter to settle between the big Finlander, who now holds the world's title at this style of wrestling, and Cutler that extends over a period of a year, and it was only after the stiffest kind of a fight that Cutler finally forced Aberg to concede the point of tackling Aberg at his own game, but in this style Cutler has proved that he ranks as a wonderful wrestler by his great work in the international tournament now in progress in New York City. In this the clever Chicagoan, wrestling in competition with some of the world's most expert Greco-Roman matmen, has proved that he, too, can perform with more than average success. Up to date he has cleared up all his opponents in very decisive style and already he is regarded as being a certain finalist.

It is this fact that makes Cutler's many admirers feel that he has a good chance to spring as big a surprise on the foreigners as Gatch did when he toppled over George Hackenschmidt and brought to America the undisputed wrestling championship of the world.

Cutler and Aberg are to wrestle to a positive finish, best two out of three falls, for a purse of $3,000 of which the winner will receive 75 and the loser 25 per cent.

BURNS JURORS MAY ATTEND CHURCH SERVICES SUNDAY

Chief Justice Robert G. Pike, sitting on the bench at the trial of Mrs. Mary A. Burns, informed Sheriff Spinnery yesterday that he need not prevent the jurors in the trial from attending church on Sunday if they desired to do so. Judge Pike said that the jurors might attend any of the churches that they wished, provided that a deputy officer or sheriff attended with them.

Portsmouth, N. H., Saturday, November 20, 1915.

A Questionable Proposition.

There is no end to movements for the betterment of the race, physically, morally and industrially, and so there need be no surprise at the movement for an annual or other periodic physical examination of every person of adult age. This is projected by the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, which presents figures to show that practically 100 per cent of supposedly well people in the United States more than thirty years of age have some physical defect or impairment. The figures give many other "per cents" showing that many of the ailments are so trivial that the victims are not aware of them. These figures are based on examinations of workers in different kinds of employment, which demonstrated that practically no man or woman examined was normal in the strict sense of the term. This leads the association behind this latest movement in behalf of the public health to recommend that every adult person in the country take a physical examination at least once a year.

But while such a course might prove of benefit in individual cases, it is a question whether on the whole it would not do more harm than good. Imagination is a great thing, and a very injurious thing when it gets to working along wrong lines. As the association finds, many persons having minor ailments are utterly unaware of them, and it is quite possible that it would be better for them in most cases to enjoy the bliss that comes from ignorance. Some individuals would learn of physical defects with composure and proceed calmly to their removal if that were possible, but others would be greatly disturbed by the knowledge of even trivial ailments, and the worry that would ensue would be far worse than the disease.

Without doubt such examinations might prove highly beneficial in cases of tuberculosis and certain other diseases in their incipient stages, but, on the whole, it would probably be better to leave the question of examination to those feeling it to be advisable in their individual cases. To inform persons who believe themselves to be sound that they were the victims of ailments would in many cases work serious harm by setting the imagination at work in the wrong direction and subjecting them to the injurious effects of mental suggestion of the wrong sort, combined with needless worry. Health is a great thing, and one of its greatest safeguards is the belief that one is well. In 99 cases out of 100 where this exists it would be cruelly, if not a crime, to remove it, and therefore it is much to be questioned whether there would be general benefit as the result of periodical physical examinations of all adults.

Judge Ben B. Lindsey of Denver, who presides over the juvenile court and has gained prominence as a lecturer on the benefits of leniency in dealing with youthful violators of the laws, has been fined $500 for contempt of court, his offense being a refusal to divulge information that came to him confidentially in a murder case. The moral right or wrong in such a case as this may be a fine point. The judge is allowed thirty days in which to take an appeal if he sees fit to do so.

In championing the use of the toothbrush, which ought to be beyond the need of defense, a medical man declares that defective teeth cause more physical deterioration and trouble for the human race than alcoholic drinks. If the scientists and health faddists keep on they may in time reduce the use of alcoholic stimulants to the ranks of minor evils.

Chicago announces that there is no army of the unemployed in that city, and similar good news comes from many sources this fall. But there is a long, hard winter ahead which is liable to pinch in places before it ends, though the prospects are that the conditions will be much better than they were last winter.

Two aeroplane mail routes have been mapped out in the West, one in Missouri and the other in Missouri and Illinois. It is not probable, however, that the aeroplane will become a serious competitor of the railroads in the transportation of the mails.

The international congress which was to have assembled in Switzerland in December to study fundamental bases for peace has been postponed. It is apparent that a sense of the eternal fitness of things has not been utterly lost.

The Kaiser thanks the Krupp company for its gift of $5,000,000 for charity work. It was a generous act on the part of the company, which the war and preparation for war has placed in a position to be generous.

CURRENT OPINION

Railroad Regulation Should Be Made Under the Regional System.

More and more people are coming to believe that what the United States has done for its banking system should also be done for the common carriers. I suggest that one way of finding a regulatory system better than the present would be to group the states into regional sections much as the federal reserve system is regulated.

More and more questions are being considered regionally—for example, wages and rates. Would any one expect the employees of the railroads to consent to a different rate of pay in each state? In the rate hearings presentations to the interstate commerce commission are made by the railroads in large regional groups, and the states themselves are co-operating regionally in their opposition. The fascinating task of this generation, therefore, converges upon methods for promoting national unity.

If the railroad and other statesmen can by friendly, intelligent co-operation make railroad stocks so desirable that any man or woman will be glad to put his or her savings directly into them, railroad debts can be carried more easily, the railroad problem will be solved and the incomes of those who save will be increased in comparison with rates allowed by banks on savings of depositors.

If the government can by legislation make banking safe and the transportation of property and people safe, can it not also promote safety of railroad stocks?—By E. P. Ripley, Head of the Santa Fe System.

FATHERS' AND SONS' BANQUET

Held Under Auspices of Social Committee of Kittery Y. M. C. A.

A Fathers' and Sons' banquet was held in Grange Hall, Kittery, on Friday evening under the auspices of the Kittery Y. M. C. A. In spite of the extremely disagreeable weather, the attendance numbered over eighty. The fathers brought their sons, and the boys brought their fathers, and several men who didn't happen to be "Dads" brought along some other man's son, and that was the way of it.

The social committee, of which Frederick W. Maby is chairman, had charge of the affair and great credit is due him and his efficient corps of assistants Messrs Edward Maby, Leslie J. Williams, Rufus Adams, Harvey Grant and Dwight Walker, for the excellent supper provided. There were eight tables with eight at a table and every place was occupied. The menu consisted of fish chowder, crackers, pickles, assorted pies, coffee and fruit.

Following the supper, speechmaking was in order. Senator Aaron B. Cole presided, and gave a fine talk upon the duty of the boys to the community. He next introduced Chaplain Allison J. Hayes as the next speaker, who spoke on the co-operation between the older men and the boys. Music was furnished by Messrs. Raymond Hobbs, Clarence Staples and Fred Dempsey. Short speeches were made by Edgar H. Baker, secretary of the Kittery Y. M. C. A., Rev. William M. Forgrave, pastor of the Second Methodist church, Kittery, and George D. Boulter.

York County Y. M. C. A. Secretary C. F. Hosmer of Kennebunk was next called upon by Senator Cole and spoke about the purpose of the Fathers and Sons' banquet, saying that the idea was to draw the men and boys of the community into closer relationship to each other. The speaker used many and stories in his talk to properly illustrate his point. In closing his remarks, Secretary Hosmer introduced the chief speaker of the evening, Edwin K. Jordan of Alfred, chairman of the York County Y. M. C. A. executive committee. Mr. Jordan spoke at length upon the Y. M. C. A. movement and what the work means to the community, boys and young men especially. His address was most interesting and he told several witty stories which kept his hearers in good humor. At the conclusion of his talk he was given three rousing cheers by everyone in the hall. It is hoped that other such get-together meetings between fathers and sons of the town may be had again in the near future for they have proven to be of much enjoyment to all parties concerned.

MILLIKEN MARKET LETER

Tremendous buying of copper and advances in the price of the metal together with the great activity in the steel industry and a steady upward swing in the price trend for steel products are among the most impressive phases of the present situation.

The belief had prevailed in many quarters that with the great increase in the output of the copper mines and the bringing in of new properties, surplus stocks of copper were piling up and that the price for the metal was more likely to work downward than up. Copper men, however, knew that exactly the opposite was true and that the consumption was on a scale entirely unappreciated. The copper shares have consequently been in process of discounting some of the phenomenal prosperity that has come to the mining industry.

Sentiment seems now to be more enthusiastically inclined to the railroads than to any other section of the list at present. Buying of these shares is based upon the expectation of very favorable statements of earnings which will make their appearance within the next few weeks. October business is known to have been very large, particularly with the eastern trunk lines and grangers, and November earnings to date have been running heavily in excess of last year. Coming months should witness continued improvement.

With money in abundance and ruling at low interest rates, it is argued that standard dividend paying railroad stocks are still selling comparatively low and that considerable higher prices are likely to be witnessed within the next few months. Undoubtedly the "rails" offer the safest medium of speculation just now.

RUSSIA'S BIG ARMY FOR SPRING

Will Have Two Million More Men Ready—Predicts Germany's Defeat in October and Peace.

(Special to The Herald) Petrograd, Nov. 20.—Within a month 700,000 fresh Russian troops fully equipped and trained will take the field. These will form only part of the new Russian army that will take an active part in the war when the spring campaign opens. By May 1st the Russian general staff expects to have more than two million troops in action. Heavy factory in Russia is now engaged in manufacturing the equipment necessary for these forces and in Russian official circles it is said that the climax will be reached by June and from then on the Germans will begin to lose ground and by October, the Berlin government will be compelled to ask for peace.

Harry Lauder, the great Scotch comedian who appears with his company at the Colonial Theatre on December 3, should have a crowded house. This is the first time he has ever appeared in this city, his heretofore only big cities have booked him.

Miss Kathryn Marshall of York Harbor was a visitor here on Saturday afternoon.

THE "I HAVE IT" STORE

The man who keeps the "I HAVE IT" store always has his ear to the ground. He tries to know in advance what the public is going to want. He listens to salesmen and he watches his home newspaper. When he sees a product advertised in his newspaper he knows people will want that. He puts the newspaper advertised goods in his window and says to all who pass by "I HAVE IT, come in." And people come.

WM. DEAN HOWELLS HONORED

Given the Gold Medal for Literary Merit.

The award to William Dean Howells of Kittery Point of the gold medal in recognition of his long and devoted work in the field of fiction was the outstanding event of Tuesday's session of the National Institute of Arts and Letters in Jordan Hall, Boston, for this was the first time the medal had ever been awarded for a novelist's work. Hamilton Wright Mable of New York announced the award and paid high tribute to the author, who was the first president of the American Academy of Arts and Letters, the inner circle of the institute, and still holds that position.

In Mr. Howells' absence, Ripley Hitchcock, secretary of the Institute, read his message and acknowledgment. "I will not," Mr. Howells wrote, pretend that it is altogether the unexpected, which has happened or that, with whatever consciousness of merit I did not hope it might happen. "I felt that if by no other right, the Medal of Fiction, might be mine by the right of seniority, for I have been writing novels now for nearly fifty years, and I have outlived nearly every contemporary who might have outlived me in the competition. If this triumph of longevity had its inevitable sadness, I hoped that there might be some touch of the kindness which sweetens the acclaim of his arrival to the man who is out of the running."

"So far as pure criticism has governed your vote I might say that the novelist whom you have done the greatest honor that the world could do him has striven for excellence in his art with no divided motive, unless the constant endeavor for truth is wont of reality to fiction. The fashion of this world passes away, and I have seen it come and go in my art or phases of it. The best novel of my day is not the best novel of yours in some of these. "But if I could believe the vital things were not the same in your career I could not prize your medal as I do. As it is, with my belief that you have peculiarly in your keeping, the standard of the art which Burke says every man has by more fidelity to nature, and that you will have it increasingly as you welcome to your number whoever is striving for beauty in any art, I prize the award more than all the words of many books could say."

High praise was given Mr. Howells in a paper on "The American Quality in American Literature," by Brand Whitlock, which was read by Hamilton Garland.

HOLD ALL BUT ONE CITY IN SERBIA

Teutonic Allies Now Forcing Anglo-French Back Into Greece.

(Special to The Herald)

London, Nov. 20.—Every city and town of any importance in Serbia with the exception of Ochieva, is now in possession of the Teutonic allies. South of Monastir and at Kosturum the Bulgarians are making furious efforts to press the French and Serbian forces back into Greece so as to precipitate a situation that will force the Greek government to take action one way or another. The chief feature of interest in the Balkan situation was the reported meeting of Lord Kitchener with King Constantine, scheduled for today.

Dispatches from Bucharest are that the main Serbian army lead by King Peter and Marshal Putnik has been surrounded on three sides and that its retreat is being seriously menaced by the advance of the Teutonic allies.

KITTERY PASTOR ACCEPTS CALL

Rev. C. J. Yeomans Resigns to Go to Paterson, N. J., Church.

The many friends of Rev. C. J. Yeomans, pastor of the Second Christian church, Kittery, will regret to learn that after careful consideration he has decided to accept the call extended him by the Madison Avenue Baptist church, of Paterson, N. J. He will tender his resignation as pastor of the Kittery church on Sunday.

Since coming to Kittery Mr. Yeomans has made a host of friends, which is very manifest by the expressions of regret heard on every side.

His Sunday evening services have been a striking evidence of his popularity especially among the young people. Some of the largest congregations in the history of the church have attended these services. His fearlessness in preaching against every form of evil in the lives of men and the community have made these services very stirring.

Mr. Yeomans has also been prominent in all work for the good of the young men of Kittery. He was elected general chairman of the Y. M. C. A. campaign committee last spring at which time money was raised and plans made to start a non-equipment branch of the Y. M. C. A., which is now working for the good of the community.

The church has been strengthened in every department. The Ransom class which has had a membership of about fifty has been the means of doing much good among the young men of Kittery. A strong Philathea class of young ladies was also organized and has done a great work for the young women.

Mr. Yeomans, previous to coming to Kittery was located in Binghamton, N. Y., where a new church was built and dedicated during his ministry there.

While the regret is general in Kittery among his friends, as well as many who came to know him in this city, and other surrounding towns, all wish him the largest measure of success in his new field of endeavor.

MUSIC COMEDY MERIT

COLONIAL BILL ONE OF THE BEST YET PRESENTED SINCE THE "QUALITY" POLICY WAS INTRODUCED

Although last evening was one of the kind that invited one to stay at home, a good audience attended the Colonial Theatre and witnessed the second night's presentation of a fine vaudeville program. The three acts, which play there this evening for the last time, were again pronounced the best bill that the management has presented for some time. The big musical act, with its four artists, was appreciated greatly and all of the numbers were accorded hearty applause which was well merited. The Kelly and Wilder Company may justly feel proud of the fact that they have one of the best of the high class musical acts now playing in vaudeville.

Although there was no comedy in the big musical offering, the two other acts made up for this. Both the Sylvester and Vance duo and the Drawce, Hambo, Frisco caused great laughter by the clever stunts and jokes.

The trio, presenting their comedy sketch, "Fun at a Hottentot Hotel" an "outdoor" act in the hot country, was one of the funniest that has been in Portsmouth for months. The clever juggling, boomerang throwing, the finely trained colts and the funny antics of "Hambo" were worth seeing and would be classed as a headline act in any house in New England.

Sylvester and Vance, in their little skit, "Get Out of My Theatre" was as funny last evening as on Thursday. There are some actors who are embarrassed by applause, but neither Mr.

Sylvester nor Miss Vance are numbered among them.
The show this afternoon and evening is one that will appeal to all, especially to children. The entire bill can be recommended as one that cannot fail to be satisfactory in every particular.

PORTSMOUTH THEATRE

Friday and Saturday
Our feature picture for these two days will be an interesting 5 part World Film Production called "THE FLASH OF AN EMERALD," featuring Robert Warwick as a social vulture.

The many admirers of this fine actor will have an opportunity of seeing him in a screen part that elicits another, and not often seen, side of his undoubted genius. As Lucius Waldeck he is "a social vulture preying on his friends and diverting suspicion by his gentlemanly graciousness." In other words, he is a polished and insinuating villain. He steals a valuable emerald from a woman in a religious procession, chloroforms her, her maid and the sick child.

Later he passes himself off as a secret agent of the Russian Revolutionists. He insinuates himself into the good graces of two ladies, to one of whom he presents the emerald. The lady is the daughter of the woman from whom he stole the jewel. Indirectly, this leads to his undoing, and he commits suicide.

The part is a great one and Mr. Warwick does it to the fullest justice. There is also a strong love interest in the photodrama which has the advantage of beautiful settings, careful direction and a strong supporting cast. "Mutual Weekly"—All the latest news of the world at a glance.

"Tillie's Big Feet" is a one reel comedy.

We have a fine two reel western film also.

CROWD GATHERS FOR BIG GAME

With Fair Weather Odds Drop to 10 to 8 on Harvard.

(Special to The Herald)

Cambridge, Nov. 20.—A bright sun smiled down on the stadium this afternoon where 50,000 football enthusiasts are gathered to see the Yale and Harvard classic. With the turf dry and the air just crisp enough to make them hustle, no one had an advantage in the weather. The betting odds on the Harvard team slumped toward game time. Last night there were still those who were willing to bet two to one, but as the Yale men took them up it fell off until it was ten to eight on Harvard. Long before the game time the crowd began to go to the Stadium and every subway and elevated train was jammed. The crowd rapidly took its place in the big Stadium. A large parking place to accommodate automobiles was nearly filled at one o'clock. The teams were kept away from Cambridge until nearly time to go to the field. The Harvard club passed the night at Vesper Club, while the Yales were at Auburndale, and both had a light lunch this forenoon.

Harvard won the toss and chose to defend the north goal, with the wind at their back. Guernsey kicked off, Boles, who ran it back five yards to Harvard's twenty-yard line; Mahan pointed on the first play and Nostrand made a fair catch. Bingham made three yards through right tackle; Guernsey made five yards through center, and then pointed to Watson, who was thrown on Harvard's twenty-yard line. Mahan made three yards through right tackle. Harvard was penalized for holding, and the ball was taken to Harvard's five-yard line. Mahan pointed to Bingham, who failed to gain. Wilson made thirty-five yard run on the next play. Bingham fumbled and Harvard recovered the ball. Mahan pointed to Yale's thirty-five yard line and Hurdle, the Harvard end, got the ball which Bingham fumbled and made a touchdown. Score, Harvard, 6; Yale, 0.

COAL STRIKE IN SPRING

Six Years Agreement Up and Unrest Already Apparent.

Washington, Nov. 19.—Washington hears that serious trouble is brewing in the coal fields. In April for the first time in six years the working agreement between both anthracite and bituminous operators and the miners will expire simultaneously. It is the belief here that unless some method be found for settling the disputes now assuming definite and threatening form a tremendous coal strike will develop next April.

At the present time it is pointed out that labor unions are in excellent condition, both financially and numerically. Their general and local treasuries are full to overflowing, their ranks are filled up and there is no danger of complications arising through the competition of non-union foreign labor. The drain on the labor supply occasioned by the war in Europe and the closing of the source of this supply by the same cause, have made the percentage of union members in the coal fields unprecedentedly high.

The attitude of the United Mine Workers of America over a number of years makes it possible to forecast the demands of the miners and the methods adopted to force their acceptance. The Tri-District Convention of the United Mine Workers recently held in Wilkesbarre, Pa., hinted that the demands of the anthracite workers would be recognition of the union, an eight hour day, a 20 per cent increase in wages and a "more speedy, simplified and satisfactory method of settling disputes," this latter probably meaning a union tribunal empowered to make settlements. Of great significance however, it is explained here, is the expected demand for a two year instead of a four year agreement.

What the government, through congress or the executive departments can do to preserve peace in the coal fields remains to be seen. The department of labor has studied the question in detail and has made tentative recommendations to the President. This report was probably the basis for the announcement made after the cabinet meeting of last week that mining legislation would be pressed by the administration.

It is the belief of some men here who oppose the attitude which labor assumes in the coal fields that the spirit of European syndicalism is strong among members of the United Mine Workers of America. The desired end of this element in the miners' union, it is explained is to eventually control the mines and operate upon a co-operative basis. To do this it is pointed out the mine owners must be placed in a position where the operation of the mines is no longer profitable. A series of strikes pressing excessive demands, it is alleged would be the method used to bring this condition about. This program says the students of labor problems is an integral part of the syndicalistic propaganda and in fact is the basis of its philosophy.

STOMACH CAUSES FOOD SOURING IN INDIGESTION, GAS

"Pape's Diapepsin" ends all stomach distress in five minutes.

Wonder what upset your stomach—what portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in a revolt; if sour, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented into stubborn lumps; head dizzy and aches; belch gases and acids and urinate undigested food; breath foul, tongue coated—just take a little Pape's Diapepsin and in five minutes you wonder what became of the indigestion and distress.

Millions of men and women today know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapepsin occasionally keeps this delicate organ regulated and they eat their favorite foods without fear.

If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion; if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless relief is Pape's Diapepsin which costs only fifty cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful—it digests food and sets things straight, so gently and easily that it is really astonishing. Please, for your sake, don't go on and on with a weak, disordered stomach; it's so unnecessary.

THE AGED MOTHER OF DEFENDANT ON THE STAND

dropped over on Mrs. Shaw's shoulder and she lay in a state of partial coma. Mrs. Shaw fanning her with a newspaper. Col. Bartlett noticed the condition of his client and spoke to Chief Justice Pike. The court declared a recess until 10 o'clock this morning.

The constant strain under which Mrs. Burns has been laboring for the past few days has apparently gradually worn her down and this, coupled with her long confinement in jail, has evidently tended to break her nerves and health. During the entire day she appeared very listless, paying little attention at times to what was taking place in the court, sitting with her head bowed, resting on her hand and at times covering her face and eyes with her handkerchief.

Fifteen minutes after the recess had been declared Mrs. Burns had regained some of her spirits, due to the attention of her friends and relatives and cheering words spoken to her by the sheriff, her counsel and Mr. and Mrs. Shaw.

That the present condition of Mrs. Burns is causing considerable worry to her counsel and the county officers may be drawn from the fact that permission has been granted by the court for a member of the Burns' family to remain with her in her cell at night until the end of the trial, or until such time that this is no longer considered necessary. The request was made to the court through Sheriff Spinney, and, after consulting Attorney General Tuttle and County Solicitor Hatch—they raising no objection—the request was granted. Mrs. Harry Davis of Nottingham, sister-in-law of Mrs. Burns, remained in the cell with her last night. Other members of the family will be allowed to stay with her on succeeding evenings.

At the opening of the afternoon session Mrs. Burns came into the court with Mrs. Shaw, leaning heavily on her arm and looking far from being the woman who made her appearance on Monday morning. She was pale and walked with a slow, uncertain step. Her mother, Mrs. Orilla Davis, also seemed less cheerful than usual, sitting with her eyes closed a great deal of the time, although she opened them often to glance at her daughter sitting beside her.

The court room was crowded with spectators, more than two-thirds being women. At the opening of the session Fred L. Gove was recalled to the stand and testified to the identity of Mrs. Burns' handwriting in a letter sent from Laconia to his wife in Dec. 1914, the week preceding the death of Burns. The letter was introduced only to show the irrationality of the respondent.

Judge Gupitt examined Mr. Gove at some length but his testimony of the forenoon was not materially altered. He did admit during the cross examination that he could remember being in the room but one time during the conversation between Sheriff Spinney, Mr. Gupitt and Mary Burns on the day of her arrest at his home on Sunday Dec. 27.

Following Mr. Gove Mrs. Lear Hopper, night nurse in the Walker building at the State Hospital in Concord at the time Mrs. Burns was confined there. She testified that from Aug. 2 to Sept. 2 she saw Mrs. Burns every half hour of every night. That at one time she heard a sound like the falling of a body in the bathroom and that she went to investigate. That she found Mrs. Burns on the floor in an unconscious condition, that she partially revived her after five minutes and that she called the doctor. She said that Mrs. Burns did not talk after she regained her consciousness.

At 2:40 Mrs. Rose Gove, sister of Mrs. Burns, and the wife of Fred L. Gove, was put on the stand by Col. Bartlett. Mrs. Gove's testimony included a very complete story of Mrs. Burns' life from the time she arrived in Nottingham in the spring of 1914 until the present time. Her testimony showed that she considered Mrs. Burns

From urinary disorders—
Any curable disease of the kidneys,
Use a tested kidney remedy.

George Byers, 172 Gates St., Portsmouth, says: "My kidneys were disordered and I suffered severely from pain and lameness in my back. The kidney secretions were too frequent in passage and at night I was obliged to get up several times. I doctored and tried several medicines, but was unable to find relief until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Phillips' Drug Store. They brought the most satisfactory results. far from rational and that at certain periods she was much less rational than at others. She was subject to fits of melancholy, was blue, had many lapses of memory and that she was constantly talking to herself.

Mother Attempted Suicide.

Testimony, introduced to show the suicidal tendencies of the family and the strain of insanity, was presented by Mrs. Gove when she told of the attempt made by her mother two years after the death of her father. She said that at their home, following some excitement caused by her sister Emma wanting to remove some furniture from the house to her own, Mrs. Davis had disappeared. She searched the house for her and found her lying on a couch in an unconscious condition, that she had an apron string tied in two hard knots about her neck and that she was black in the face.

She stated that Mr. Burns at one time had told her that Mary had just attempted to drink laudanum from a bottle, that he had struck her hand down and prevented her from swallowing it. That after that she had watched Mary carefully to prevent her from repeating the attempt.

Heard No Threats or Profanity.

She said that in all the time Mary and Burns had lived with them she had never heard her use any profanity to him nor make any threats against his life. She said that even when Mary was very blue and was suffering, she was always loving in her attitude to Frank, and that she would sit in his lap, kissing him and hugging him in a silly though perfectly happy manner. That he would attempt to cheer her up at these times when she was blue but that she never said a cross word to him that she could remember.

Q—Did Burns tell you that he had taken the laudanum away from Mary and that he had hit her on the back to make her spit out what she had in her mouth?

A—Yes.

When an objection was raised Col. Bartlett stated that this was presented only to show its bearing on Mrs. Burns' sanity.

Mrs. Gove told of the habit Mary had of talking to herself, even when in a conversation with others. She said, "We have often been talking about ordinary topics and she would suddenly stop in the middle of a sentence and talk to herself."

She said that this talking was not audible but that it was mumbbling and sometimes there was no sound, just the moving of her lips.

She testified that Mrs. Burns was continually imagining that people were talking about her. She told of one instance when Burns, Mr. Gove and another man were talking in front of the house, Mrs. Burns and herself were in the house. She said, "Mary jumped up and said 'I wonder if they are talking about me? They must' and she went to the door and yelled to Burns, 'Come in here, Frank Burns, you've talked about me long enough. You had better come in here with me.'"

Mrs. Gove said that Mrs. Burns was nervous most of the time, that she would twitch all over, that she would wring her hands and jump out of her chair, rush up stairs, return in a moment and if asked where she had been she didn't seem to know. She would go out doors suddenly, Mrs. Gove said, and return in fifteen minutes or so, and if questioned would say that she had gone out for a walk.

Mrs. Gove, in relating some of the jealous thoughts of Mrs. Burns told of one time when Burns and Mr. Gove were driving to Raymond, Mrs. Burns said, "I wonder if they will see any women and if Frank will talk with them? I know that he will." Mrs. Gove said that she tried to drive this idea out of her head.

Another incident relating to the irrationality of Mrs. Burns was told by Mrs. Gove in connection with a letter she had received from Mary after her arrest. She said that Mary would write for certain articles to be brought to her, that she would underline the words and when Mrs. Gove brought them the following day Mrs. Burns would say, "What did you bring this out for? I don't want that. Take it back," and that on several occasions the next letter she received would demand that the same articles be brought to her.

Mrs. Gove further testified that after Mr. Burns' death Mrs. Burns remained at their home in Nottingham until her arrest. That at night she and her husband would wake up and find Mary in their room, wandering about in an aimless manner. That when they spoke to her about it she would say, "I was restless and couldn't sleep. I guess that I can sleep now." That this incident was repeated on each of the five nights and that it happened more than once on some of the nights.

Asked if Mrs. Burns had ever said anything to her about committing suicide she replied that on several occasions Mrs. Burns had said when she was blue, "I haven't anything to live for. If it wasn't for the disgrace I would commit suicide," mentioning the death of her father and sister. Mrs. Gove said that she would try and reason with Mary at these times and tell her that she shouldn't say such things.

Asked about the condition of Mrs. Burns' health when she went to Nottingham in 1914, in contrast to her condition some years before, Mrs. Gove said that she seemed to be in poor health, was pale and thin. She said that she was constantly complaining about pains and not being able to sleep. She said that she appeared to be in a great deal of the time.

Col. Bartlett, in order to show the state of mind of Mrs. Burns at the time of Burns' death and her gradual recovery, asked about, among other things, the full and when it was that Mrs. Burns first mentioned the poison to her. She said that at her visits during the first week of her confinement in Portsmouth Mrs. Burns never mentioned any details about his death and that on one occasion while they were talking she asked suddenly, "Where is Frank?" and that she was told he was dead. That Mrs. Burns said "Oh," and continued the conversation from the interruption. That when asked for details of the death of Mr. Burns she said, "It seems like a dream." "What?" I asked. She replied, "It all seems as if I were dreaming."

She said that some time during the second week she was in jail she told her about buying the poison and that during the following two weeks at different times told of the death of Burns of her learning that he had taken the poison mixed in the liquor from her bag, of her buying it in a Manchester drug store and that she had intended taking it herself.

Dream Book Identified.

She was asked about the dream book and the dice which Mrs. Burns is supposed to have played with. Mrs. Gove identified the book by certain markings in the book at the place where the "Angry by Dice" was located. She told of her playing with the book and the dice and that she did this often.

Identified Hand Bag.

Mrs. Gove was shown a hand bag which she identified as that of Mrs. Burns' and said that she had found the dream book in it after her arrest. She told of the funeral and the fact that Mrs. Burns cried a great deal, often saying "Poor Frank. What will I do without him?"

At 4:00 o'clock Judge Gupitt opened his cross examination and was still questioning her when the recess was taken. Mr. Gupitt questioned Mrs. Gove at length as to just what she had heard of the conversation between Mrs. Burns, Sheriff Spinney and him on the day of Mrs. Burns' arrest. In the cross examination it was brought out that Mrs. Burns had at one time threatened suicide to Mrs. Gove while they were in Manchester. She also testified that she never knew Mrs. Burns to prove about the house at night before the death of Burns, but that she was often awake and that she at times went to her and gave her some medicine to make her sleep.

Judge Gupitt questioned her about the distant relations between the members of the family and on the fact that others beside Emma might be at fault. This was admitted by Mrs. Gove.

It was during these questions that Mrs. Burns seemed to be losing control of herself.

Q—Isn't it a fact that Mary and your mother didn't speak to each other for a period of seven years?

A—I don't know as it was seven years.

Q—Was it two or three years?

A—I don't know. I know that there was some time that they weren't speaking.

Q—Your father and mother were separated about 2 years when he committed suicide?

A—Yes.

Q—They separated because of his heavy drinking, didn't they?

At this point Judge Pike declared a recess until ten o'clock.

Pike of the superior court informed Clerk of Court Roberts of Dover, by telephone from this city Friday afternoon, that as the Burns murder trial would run over into next week, the trial of Elmer Merchant for the alleged murder of Edward A. Willard, superintendent of the Stafford county farm, set for November 22 would have to be postponed until Nov. 29 at 9:30 a. m.

EVEN CROSS, SICK CHILDREN LOVE SYRUP OF FIGS

If feverish, bilious, constipated give fruit laxative
at once.

Don't scold your fretful, peevish child. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with sour waste.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomachache, indigestion, diarrhoea, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul waste, the sour bile and fermenting food passes out of the bowels and you have a well and playful child again. Children love this harmless "Fruit Laxative," and mothers can rest easy after giving it, because it never fails to make their little "insides" clean and sweet.

Keep it handy, Mother! A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Remember, there are counterfeits sold here, so surely look and see that yours is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.

"THE FLASH OF AN EMERALD"

"The Flash of an Emerald," playing at the Portsmouth Theatre for the third and last evening tonight is a picture with a punch and a grip that cannot fail to hold the attention from the opening to the end. It is the story of a "social vulture" with Robert Warwick playing in the lead. Last evening and on Thursday it was admitted by the members of the audience to be one of the most thrilling and interesting picture subjects that they had witnessed.

The many admirers of this fine actor, Mr. Warwick, will have an opportunity of seeing him in a screen part that elicits another, and not often seen, side of his undoubted genius. As Lucius Waldeck he is "a social vulture preying on his friends and diverting suspicion by his gentlemanly graciousness." In other words he is a villain. He steals a valuable emerald from a woman in a religious procession, chloroforms her, her maid and the sick child. Later he passes himself off as a severed agent of the Russian Revolutionists. He gains the good graces of two ladies, one of whom he presents the emerald. The lady is the daughter of the woman from whom he stole the jewel. Indirectly, this leads to his undoing, and he commits suicide.

The part is a great one and Mr. Warwick does it full justice. There is a strong love interest in the photodrama which has the advantage of beautiful settings, careful direction and a strong supporting cast.

MOTION PICTURES TO TEACH CHICAGO CHILDREN

Chicago, Nov. 20.—Motion pictures as an educational agency will be given their first trial in the United States in the public schools of this city shortly after January first.

This was the statement today of Mrs. Ella Plagg Young, superintendent of schools, and all members of the Board of Education questioned were enthusiastic in their endorsement of the idea of "screen education."

The matter became of immediate interest a few days ago when William N. Selig, president of the Selig-Polyscope company, announced that after two years of exhaustive study of the film as an educational factor, he was about ready to lay before the school board a proposition which is sure to become universally adopted by the public schools.

"After January 1, films are to be quite generally adopted in the public schools," said Mrs. Young. "Next year will see an increased school fund appropriation, and I will recommend that some stipulated amount be set aside school films, geography, the industries and such subjects to be treated."

Dr. Peter Clemensen, a member of the Board of Education, said he had seen films used with great success in the schools of Europe and heartily approved their use here.

"Such a visualization of facts is a great assistance," said Max Loch, another member, "and I am for it strong. I know that as a boy I could have gained a much clearer impression of the facts of geography and even history. If a motion picture presentation had accompanied the lectures and study of the text. Within a few years I expect to see films used to assist students in all the large cities of the country."

A SPECIAL GOOD TURN FOR THANKSGIVING DAY.

Desiring to confirm by word and deed, to the spirit expressed in the Thanksgiving Proclamation of the President of the United States, who is also the Honorary President of our Organization, I, Collin H. Livingstone, President of the National Council of the Boy Scouts of America, do hereby proclaim it to be our duty and privilege to express our thankfulness to Almighty God by practical acts of helpfulness.

As scouts who have pledged ourselves to be helpful to others, at all times, and to do good turn daily, we should take advantage of this special opportunity to serve, in a manner worthy and characteristic of all scouts, those who, on this day of gladness, are sick, afflicted, or in need.

Thursday, November twenty-fifth, has been designated by our President as a Day of Thanksgiving. I suggest and urge that all scout officials and individual scouts definitely plan now so that on this day they may, by cooperative effort, have their daily good turn specially effective and appropriate to the Thanksgiving season.

A scout patrol or troop, or the scout official, and scout and individual may be of practical service to the local associated charities or other philanthropic organizations, or to the authorities of the church, by serving as messengers to collect and distribute fuel, food and clothing for those in need, and in this way share in the work and spirit of the day.

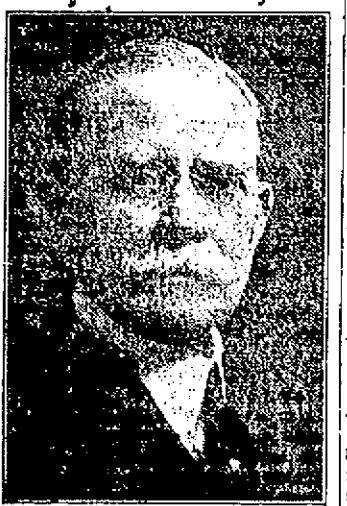

COLIN H. LIVINGSTONE,
President, National Council, Boy Scouts of America.

NOW IS THE TIME FOR
MERCHANTS TO ADVERTISE, SAYS PATTERSON

National Cash Register Head, Foreseeing Prosperity, Backs Up His Opinion With His Money; Is Spending $200,000 This Month for Publicity.

Dayton, Ohio, Nov. 19.—In the convention of salesmen of the National Cash Register Company gathered here from all parts of this continent, reports were made indicating the general improvement of business everywhere. Out of eight hundred salesmen present, all but one said that his territory was moving fast towards a business boom.

On the basis of these reports John H. Patterson, president and general manager of the Cash Register Company predicted that the approaching era of prosperity would probably exceed anything this country has ever known.

JOHN H. PATTERSON.

As a preface to his remarks, he reviewed the business depression of the previous two years. This, he said, had affected all lines—agriculture, mining, industry, commerce and finance.

"Now," he continued, "the boom is on. Agricultural interests are the first to feel it. The farmers have record-breaking crops, with a big demand. Confidence has been re-established. Various industries have picked up, one after another. Then the stores needed goods, and factory wheels began to move. Then commerce and transportation reflected the change. Finally it was manifest in the financial world. We have plenty of money and the best banking system in the world today. "We have three big federal organizations, taking care of these various interests: First, the Interstate Commerce Commission; then came the Federal Trade Commission; and finally the Federal Reserve Board, with its chain of reserve banks. The value of these three boards or commissions to the country cannot be estimated.

"Through the aid of the reserve banks, the various banking institutions of the country began to loan money, where people could not get it before. Now, with big crops and big demands, with little foreign competition, we are at the commencement of an era of prosperity such as this country has never seen before.

"All this great prosperity cannot come in a day. It will take time. But conditions everywhere are improving. The farmers are prosperous. The mills of Pittsburgh are busier than ever before. Railroad stocks are going up. It is only a question of time before the wave of prosperity will be upon us.

"Now is the time for storekeepers to advertise," added Mr. Patterson. He is backing up his opinion with his money. His company is spending more than $200,000 this month for advertising. In addition it has spent $50,000 to have the 800 members of its selling force attend its school at Dayton for three days, where they were taught the new up-to-date ideas for their business.

Feel languid, weak, run down? Head-ach? stomach "off"? A good remedy is Burdock Blood Purifiers. Ask your druggist. Price $1.00.

Do You Throw Your Money Away?

If you do not, save it by bringing your old clothes to us to be renewed and repaired. We can many times give you an extra year's wear out of a suit you consider hopeless. Our cleaning department is as near perfection as scientific knowledge and modern equipment can make it. In our dyeing department we make a specialty of turning out work at two days' notice.

WILD STORM WHILE IT LASTED

South-easterly With a Fifty-Mile Gale and Heavy Rain, Does Some Damage.

The southeasterly storm of Friday afternoon, although brief, was severe enough to make a lasting impression, and also to leave a trail of damage.

The storm was the last end of the heavy gale that prevailed on Thursday night and Friday along the Atlantic coast with a great deal of damage in Pennsylvania and New York.

It struck here shortly after the noon hour when the rain started, and the wind began to increase, until at five o'clock it was blowing a gale, reaching its height at six o'clock. The storm suddenly swung off shore and at seven o'clock the moon was breaking through the fast scattering clouds.

There was considerable damage done to blinds and trees about the city. The telephone and telegraph companies lost many of their through lines and the service was damaged locally.

The heavy rain, driven in the face of a fifty-mile-an-hour gale, was a test of waterproofing that many houses did not stand.

The coast guards report that there was a very heavy sea running, but shipping had warning enough and reached the harbor. During yesterday forenoon eight or ten coasters made this harbor and weather the storm with two anchors out.

WILL ARRIVE MONDAY.

Kid Sims sent word that he would leave Philadelphia tonight at 8.55, arriving in Portsmouth Sunday. He states that he is in the best of condition and will put up a good argument with Tommy Harding, whom he is to box at the show Monday evening.

MEETING POSTPONED

A meeting of the Fairmont School Parent-Teachers' Club which was to have been held on Friday, was postponed until Monday evening, owing to the storm.
